VOL. XIV, NO. 6

PUBLISHED WEEKLY — PORTERVILLE, CALIFORNIA

Thursday, July 28, 1960

ABOVE THREE photos were all taken from the corner of Sunnyside avenue, looking east along the north side of Morton street; all represent change — and, we hope, progress — in growth of the city of Porterville. Top photo was taken in the early 1890s, the row of houses having just been built by the Pioneer Land company. At the extreme right is the old Porterville school that stood at what was then the north end of Main street, the street at that time dead-ending at Morton. North entrance into town was down Sunnyside to Morton then down Morton to Main. Center photo shows the original land company houses as they looked early this year; bottom photo shows demolition work that is underway to clear this area for construction of a Safeway supermarket. The large house on the left was known for many years as "the Knupp place", the original land company house being remodeled into what was for years one of the community's "show places" by V. D. Knupp, early-day manager of the Pioneer Land company.

SOUTHERN SIERRA GROUP "STAYS IN BUSINESS" BUT HAS NO CLOUD-SEEDING PLANS

By Bill Reece
Special Events Editor

PORTERVILLE, July 28 — Directors of the Southern Sierra Corporation, sponsors of the once active Tulare County cloud seeding program, voted Tuesday evening to keep their organization intact for another year but made no plans to reactivate the project itself. However, to maintain public interest in weather modification, directors approved a motion to purchase exhibit space at the 1961 Porterville Fair to demonstrate the feasibility of artificial rainmaking.

Historical Editions Of Farm Tribune On Microfilm

PORTERVILLE, July 28 — Microfilm copy of historical editions of the Farm Tribune is now on file at the Porterville City library for public use.

The annual editions, devoted to history of the area, date back to 1949 and are all contained on one film roll.

Included in these editions is considerable original writing by Porterville's historian, Miss Ina Stiner; reprints from early-day newspapers; interviews with pioneers of the community and a number of historical pictures.

By microfilming this group of papers, another reference source is provided at the city library for students, and for persons who are interested in reading of the "old days" in the southeastern Tulare (Continued On Page 10)

LEO KERR AND DAN HANGGI PURCHASE CAMP WISHON; GRAND OPENING SATURDAY

CAMP WISHON, July 28 — Latest development in the booming development of the Sierra resort area east of Porterville is the announcement, this week, that the Camp Wishon resort, on the north fork of the middle fork of the Tule river, has been purchased by Leo Kerr and Dan Hanggi, of Porterville.

Former owner, Jess Burleson, had operated the resort for 12 years.

Kerr states that for the past two weeks a general "sharpening up" of the resort area has been underway, and that a Grand Opening party is set for this Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, with a free barbecue for all visitors.

Within the 37-acre resort area is a 23-unit trailer park, nine rental cabins, four hotel rooms, kitchen and dining room, bar, grocery store, and gasoline pumps.

Adjacent to the resort is a Forest Service camp ground that will accommodate approximately 350 persons; Kerr and Hanggi plan to develop a picnic area just below the resort buildings along the Tule river. They also plan to build more rental cabins and make other expansions.

Kerr states that trout are being regularly planted in the area to provide excellent fishing; a riding stable is also being operated at the resort.

Ho Hum — Only 27 Of 196 Wheat Growers Vote

VISALIA, July 28 — Tulare county wheat growers either aren't much interested in the federal marketing and acreage control program, or perhaps they figure that no one is going to vote money out of their own pocket anyway, so why worry.

At least only 27 out of 196 eligible growers, took the time to vote last Thursday in the annual referendum to determine whether or not the wheat program is to be continued.

Of those voting, 16 favored continuation of the program; 11 opposed.

Nationally, the referendum carried by the necessary two-thirds vote, so wheat growers will continue to receive at least 75 per cent of parity, acreage will be controlled and penalties will be assessed against growers who do not comply with acreage allotments.

MARINE MAJOR TELLS OF RESERVE TRAINING PROGRAM IN ANSWER TO RECENT ARTICLES BY DAVIS HARP

(Ed. note — During the month of June, Davis Harp, who writes the Time Out column for The Farm Tribune, gave his impressions of the summer training program of the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, of which he is a member. Harp was critical of the program in relation to results and to cost. Following is a statement by Major W. H. Allen, USMC, resulting from Harp's columns.)

Our Town

By GARDNER WHEELER

WATER SHORTAGE IS GREATEST THING SINCE MONROE DOCTRINE

IT HAS BEEN HOT AROUND our town; hot enough to fry an egg on the pavement at Putnam and Main, if you like picknicking; hot enough so that you look twice at 1:45 at the sign on Main street that alternates the time and the temperature to make sure whether it is really the time or the temperature; and hot enough so that the Chamber of Commerce grudgingly admits that the weather is a little "unusual".

TO CAP THIS ROUND of heat waves, we now have the announcement from the City Water works that one and all better take it easy on the use of water. This is a bit rough on city dwellers whose idea of a water problem is a leaky faucet, but simple research indicates that if no water is put in one end of a pipe, none comes out the other end. The Commissioner indicates that this could be a reality as well as a theory, too.

BUT, AS THE SAGES state, "It's an ill-wind indeed, that doesn't blow someone some good." A water shortage might pose a problem for the energetic, scrub-conscious housewife, but there are some elements hereabout that welcome the statement of a water shortage as the greatest thing since the Monroe Doctrine. For instance, children that seem reluctant to bathe hail this as the fifth freedom. When Mother sweetly suggests a bath, Junior can now look her in the eye, and state, "It is my patriotic duty as a junior citizen of this community to refrain from wasting water." This has a lot more style than saying, "I don't wanna bath", and also aligns the authorities on Junior's side.

OR, THE RELUCTANT gardener who goes through his gruesome chores under duress exercised by his ever-loving. If there is a water shortage, he can't water the lawn. If the lawn isn't watered, it doesn't grow. If it doesn't grow, you don't have to mow it. That leaves nothing to do but lounge in front of the TV. Of course, there is also that segment of society that has long maintained that water is dangerous when taken internally. They can now quaff their favorite beverages, and declaim fervently on their shift from pariah to patriot. Obviously, the prospect of a water shortage is viewed with mixed feelings hereabouts.

A SHORT PLUG FOR a good cause dept.: The District Babe Ruth League tournament is now being held at our own candlelight park. Teams from some dozen valley towns are planning to represent this district in the State tournament. At this writing, we don't know whether Porterville is in or out, but we do know that a lot of people have spent a lot of time and effort to get this tournament for our town. From that aspect alone, it is worthy of our

ing for him to form an opinion or to express a criticism.

Here are the facts!

It is a fact that our peacetime armed forces strength is at a near all time high!

It is a fact that a great portion of our military force is, not on active duty! It is a fact that our Reserve Forces constitute the broad base upon which our national defense is built and maintained!

Today, the Reserve Forces are just as important to our survival as a free nation as is the regular military establishment!

In order to continue to provide the essential supplement to our regular forces, each reservist must be properly and adequately trained. Each reservist must be constantly ready to "fill in the ranks" in time of need.

Perhaps even more important, each reservist must be assured a "chance of survival" equal to that of the regular.

What price can be placed on this chance of survival? What value can be placed on the life of one marine, especially if that life is lost as a result of a lack of proper and adequate training?

The primary mission of the 6th Anti-Tank Company, here in Tulare and Kings Counties, and of all the Marine Corps Reserve units throughout the country, is to insure that the individual is ready to "fill in the ranks" and that he does have an equal chance of survival.

The 6th Anti-Tank Company conducts monthly drills at the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center in Tulare, during which the reservist receives training in the basic fundamentals of being a Marine and in the specialty to which he will be assigned in the event of recall to active duty. The period of annual field training culminates the training year by offering the reservists an opportunity to put into practice those lessons learned at the home training center as well as offering training in those subjects which cannot be conducted at the home armory.

Unfortunately, this training cannot be conducted without some cost to the taxpayer. However, the entire cost of the annual field training recently completed by the 6th Anti-Tank Company amounted to less than one-third of the cost to launch one missile at Cape Canaveral. The entire cost to train all reserve units during the support. But best of all, the fans can see some very good baseball. Come on out — and second guess the umpires and coaches for a nominal sum.

PORTERVILLE FARM VIEW October 30, 1891

The Pioneer store in Porterville has fresh goods in every department: Hardware, boots, shoes, hats, clothing of all kinds. Farmers' and mechanical tools.

Did you know that Wilko Mentz past five years amounts to less than the cost of one month of World War II.

The training conducted was intensive. It consisted of long, hard hours. However, except in those cases where training was conducted at night, the training day did not exceed twelve hours, and averaged less than ten hours per day. Night training was conducted during only two nights of the total ten days scheduled.

The results of the training are encouraging. Where previously only three members of the unit had ever seen an Ontos, today, all those who attended annual field training are now qualified to drive it and to shoot it, and they are capable of destroying any tank of any country in the world. And they can do so with an excellent chance of survival!

It is the desire and intent of the Marine Corps, both the regular and reserve forces, to continue to be prepared to meet the challenge of any threat to our country. And to do so with adequately and properly trained marines.

The cost is worth it and the cause is worthwhile.

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

ASKING YOUR indulgence for a moment, may we change our hat and speak personally in this column today as the mayor of Porterville?

THERE ARE a couple of basic principles about which there appears to be no argument at the city council table: 1. All citizens of the community are to be treated courteously by all persons connected with the city of Porterville, all are to be treated fairly, and preference is to be shown to none. 2. Administration of the city is to be by law, as represented by city ordinance and resolution, not by whim and fancy of either elected individuals or of city personnel.

DEPARTMENT HEADS have been instructed from the council table to conduct the affairs of the city on a basis of these principles. As a result, there has been a rumble, now and then, from individuals who we believe may have exerted just a little "influence" in the past when they find that now things are changing. And, in some cases, these individuals tend to blame the paid city employees with whom they are talking for the answers they get, and in a couple of regrettable instances, the conversation has deteriorated a little toward the rough side.

NOW, CITY employees are not hired to be "whipping boys" for the any segment of the public. These employees are working under city council policy and law; if any individual is unable to take care of his problems through the regular channels of city administration, they can always state their case in front of the city council in open meeting. If it then becomes apparent that a policy or an ordinance, in the interest of the common good, should be changed, we feel sure that the council will waste no time in making the change.

WE ALSO believe the council will stand firm if suggested reasons for change cannot be adequately substantiated.

BUT THE final decision on points of controversy, and the final policy decision is being made, and will continue to be made by a majority vote of the city council, not by city employees, consequently, if there is any rough talk in order, or any whipping boy tactics to be used, take a try at the council. Probably that is what all of us, in a way, asked for when we sought election.

CONVERSELY, IF citizens of the community are not treated courteously and equitably by employees of the city, we believe that city council members want to know about it.

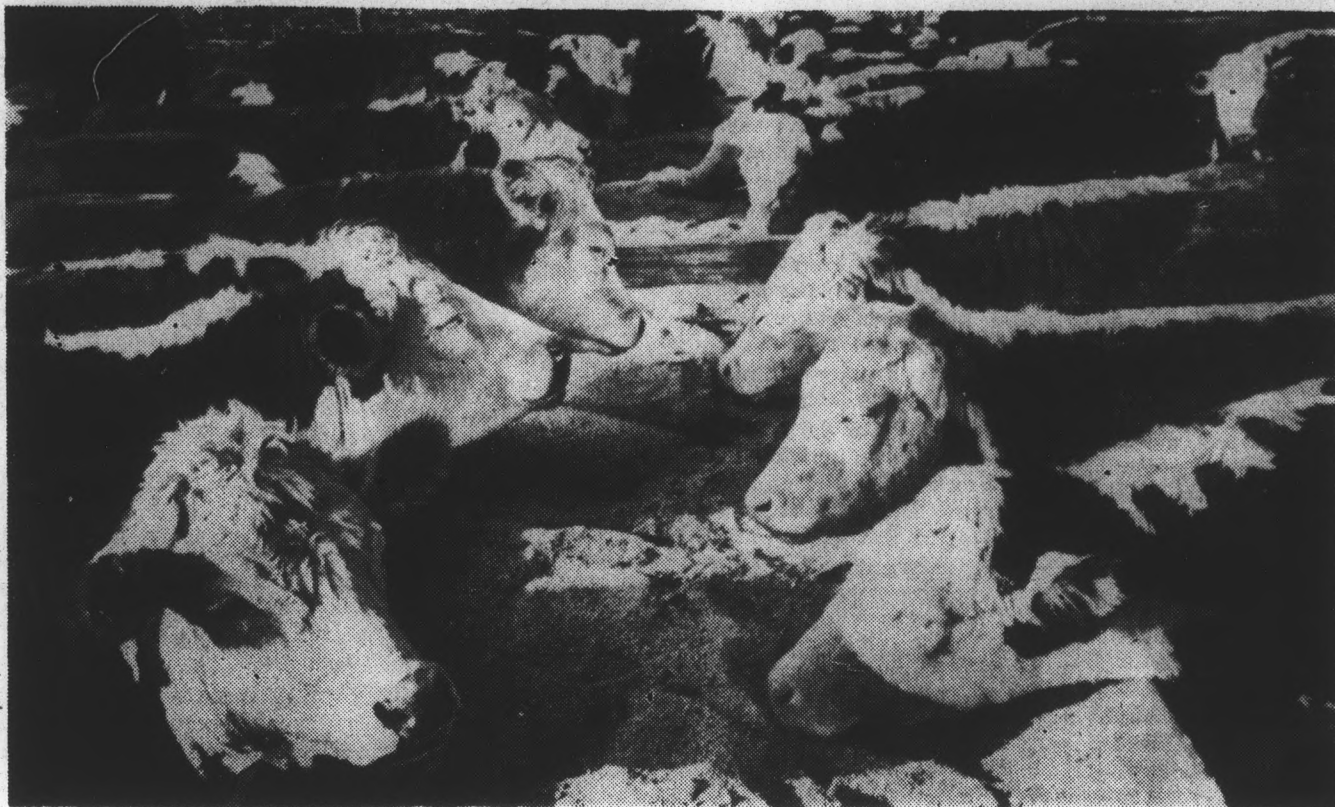

NOW, WE hasten to add that we are talking about the rare exception and certainly not the general rule. The great majority of city business conducted by the good people of Porterville is carried on in a reasonable and pleasant manner. Only rarely do the unpleasant situations arise. But when they do, they invariably seem to be magnified out of true proportion.

WE WOULD be the first to admit that city councilmen are not above and beyond error, and that in trying to fit the special problem of the individual into the general policy and law of the city, councilmen are not always blessed with the judgment of Solomon.

BUT SO long as those basic principles are kept in mind—fairness to all, preference to none, and government by law—administration of the city will, in the long run, be honest and sound.

AT WHICH point we should

WHEN YOU'RE TRYING TO S-T-R-E-T-C-H SPARSE SPRING GRASS INTO THE LATE SUMMER AND FALL MONTHS — THERE IS JUST ONE WAY TO DO IT. FILL YOUR BUNKERS WITH GRASS CONSERVING SUPPLEMENTAL RANGE MIX. THE GREATEST GRASS STRETCHER EVER INVENTED.

BUT, BE SURE THE MIX YOU USE IS CORRECT FOR YOUR PARTICULAR NEEDS. BY THAT WE MEAN: THE SALT CONTENT IN THE RATION SHOULD VARY IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE NATURAL SALT ALREADY CONTAINED IN THE NATIVE FEED. OTHERWISE, IT WILL BE UNPALATABLE.

ALSO, ANY ADDITION OF TRACE MINERALS SHOULD BE CAREFULLY COMPUTED SO AS NOT TO INCLUDE THOSE ALREADY IN ABUNDANCE. TO DUPLICATE THEM IS SIMPLY ADDING TO THE PRICE OF THE MIX WITHOUT ADDING ANYTHING TO ITS FEED VALUE.

THE BEST WAY TO BE SURE, IS TO HAVE US CUSTOMIZE THE RATION FOR YOU — JUST AS HUNDREDS OF OTHER CATTLEMEN DO THROUGHOUT THE CENTRAL SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY. WE HAVE BOTH THE KNOW-HOW AND THE EQUIPMENT TO KEEP THE COST DOWN AND THE QUALITY UP.

SO, WHY NOT LET US PREPARE YOUR NEXT ORDER. WE CAN DELIVER IT DIRECTLY TO YOUR FEED BUNKERS IN BULK FORM IF YOU WISH, OR, YOU CAN PICK IT UP SACKED AT OUR MILL AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE.

SAN FRANCISCO HAS GIANTS, SCENERY AND CABLE CARS

Looking out through centerfield at the San Francisco Giants' Candlestick park, past the Tereyton scoreboard, the huge parking lot, a small neck of the bay, it is easy to understand why this city is called the city of hills.

From our seat in the second deck along first baseline we watched the Giants take two games from the slumping Pittsburgh Pirates this past weekend.

And it was an impressive exhibition of baseball. Saturday the Giants' rookie righthander Juan Marichal stopped the Pirates 3-1 on a fine four hitter. Juan, who no-speaks-English, was at his best when the Pirates had men on base. It was his second major league victory without a defeat.

The game Sunday afternoon, which provided the most fireworks, seemed to be a Giant show until the ninth inning. The "jints" took a 6-0 lead on home-runs by catcher Bob Schmidt and Willie Mays, and pitcher Billy O'Dell threw good two hit baseball. When the Pirates came to bat in the ninth O'Dell walked the first man up and S.F. manager Tom Sheehan walked slowly out to the mound and waved Johnny Antonelli in to take over. We thought this was a bad move and after Antonelli gave up two singles and made a throwing error we demanded Manager Sheehan's resignation, along with 36,000 other people who were scattered about the spacious park.

After Antonelli had demonstrated his inability, Sheehan brought on temperamental Billy Loes. The husky left-hander walked the first man he pitched to and then threw two balls to the next batter and promptly lost his mind and began shaking a threatening finger at the plate umpire. The umpire, a sensitive fellow who dislikes being berated before 36,000 people, thoughtfully sent Loes to the showers to cool off. Manager Sheehan then brought on youthful Mike McCormick.

McCormick came into the game with one out and runners on first and second and the score 6-2. The lefty promptly gave up a single that scored a run and then struck out the next two batters, both pinch hitters. It was a tense situation as he worked both hitters to 3 and 2 counts. The last hitter, Smokey Burgess, was out on a called strike, and the fireplug

Jack Booch Is Congregational Speaker Sunday

PORTERVILLE, July 28 — The Rev. Jack V. Booch, Minister of Christian Education of Central Congregational Church of Tokepa, Kansas, will be guest speaker at the First Congregational church this Sunday, July 30, at 10 a.m., according to the Rev. Terence E. Stoker, pastor.

Mr. Booch is well known to Porterville residents, having served as Director of Christian Education of First Congregational church and Director of the Barn theater in 1958-59.

His sermon theme will be "A Changing Life". Mr. Stoker will conduct the worship service and resume the current series on "Our Father's World" on August 21.

catcher ranted and raved for quite a while as the big crowd started home.

We left the game impressed by the Giants' play. They have been in a prolonged slump but looked strong in beating the former league leading Pirates. The most impressive player on the field, naturally, was jint centerfielder Willie Mays. The husky Negro plays like Candlestick park belongs to him. He handled his chances in centerfield like the flawless veteran he is. At bat his menacing stance is enough to shake even the most stalwart pitcher. His blasting bat rattled the Pirate pitching for two home-runs and a single during the two day stand.

As impressive as the Giants were they took second here in San Francisco. We left the town completely charmed and enslaved by the rattling cable cars that struggle up and down the hills of the city. With clanking bell and clicking wheels the cars traveled up and down Powell and Mason streets to Fisherman's Wharf. We rode the same car back late that evening and there seems to be no load limit, the car stops wherever there's a crowd and the more people that cling to its sides the happier everyone is.

Here's another one — August is National Sandwich month.

WILLIAM PENNINGTON FACES CHARGE

PORTERVILLE, July 28 — William Pennington, 21, of Success Valley faces a manslaughter charge in the death, Sunday, of Elder Percy C. Corum, 75, pastor of the Lindsay Primitive Baptist church. The fatal accident occurred at the intersection of Road 244 and Avenue 220. Pennington, who was injured in the accident, was cited by the California Highway patrol for excessive speed at a blind intersection, failure to yield the right of way, and manslaughter. With him was Herschel Moore, 17, of Porterville.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

Misconception About Glasses

- Mushrooms
- Split Lip

Q. If I wear my glasses faithfully (I am nearsighted) will I need them later on? I am 14.
A. You probably will. In fact, nearsightedness (myopia) tends to increase with growth and age. No harm comes of not wearing corrective glasses constantly other than that which may result from inability to see distant objects on such occasions.

Q. Is there any test to tell the difference between nonpoisonous and poisonous mushrooms?
A. No, there is no simple test to distinguish edible mushrooms from poisonous ones (toadstools).

Q. I have had a split in my lower lip for quite some time. It heals, only to break open when I talk or smile. Is there any medicine to use that will heal the split permanently?
A. You should, we think, see a doctor. The chronic split or fissure may have produced some slight scarring or thickening of the tissue. If so, medical assistance is necessary to achieve permanent healing.

Dispensing prescribed medicine is what we do best . . . do promptly . . . and do at reasonable cost. Trust your health to your doctor—trust his prescriptions to us.

Effectively Control Lygus Bugs, Mites, Bollworms with Niagara Insecticides

Increasing numbers of lygus bugs are reported in all parts of the Valley. Protect your squares, flowers and growing bolls from the stings of profit-robbing daubers. Lygus bugs can be controlled with combinations of Toxaphene, Malathion, DDT or Endrin. Add Sunland dusting sulphur as a low cost preventive for Atlantic mites.

Mites can be controlled with Tedion, Systox, Ethion, Trithion, or Aramite. These tiny sucking insects can ruin an otherwise profitable cotton crop in a matter of days. Don't let them pick your profit.

Be on the alert for bollworms and stop 'em before they get the upper hand. Your best bet for complete, effective insect control is Niagara's free field inspection service with written reports and Niagara's technical know-how.

Don't lose the cream of your crop. For a low-cost, profit-building cotton insect control program, see your local Niagara Field Representative, or call:

Freestone Peach Marketing Order Voting Is Extended

SACRAMENTO, July 28—State Director of Agriculture William E. Warne has extended the closing date for filing of written assents to the Marketing order for processing Freestone peaches from July 18 to August 2. Under the extension, assents, to be counted, must be postmarked not later than midnight, August 2.

The extension was requested by Charles Telford, manager of the California Freestone Peach Growers association. Telford said seasonal activities had delayed attention of growers to the marketing order assent forms.

CONSERVATION OF WATER ASKED AS DRY YEARS AND HEAVY USE RESULT IN LOWERING OF CITY PUMPING LEVELS

PORTERVILLE, July 28—Two successive dry years, plus a heavy use of water during the heat of the summer have brought a steady lowering of water levels in Porterville city wells, it was reported today by Dave Rambo, superintendent of public works.

Heavy demand, this season, on agricultural wells in the area surrounding the city, is also a contributing factor in the receding city water table, Rambo says.

"The situation is not critical at this time, and there is no indication now that water use will have to be seriously curtailed," Rambo says. "However, in order to forestall future trouble, we are asking residents of the city to voluntarily cooperate in the scheduling of water use in homes, yards and businesses."

Rambo asks public cooperation in these rules of water use: 1. Do not run water in gardens or on lawns between the hours of 3 p.m. and 9 p.m. since this is the peak use period; 2. Curtail, if possible, use of water during these same hours in commercial business operations; 3. Use only necessary amounts of water — do not waste water; 4. Turn off all running water when the city fire siren sounds, and leave water off in case of serious fire; 5. Schedule family wash day at some other time than on Monday, since Monday is the peak water consumption day of the week.

City Manager William S. Coburn states that already major commercial water users are cooperating with the city, and that the city itself is scheduling irrigation during the night, as well as curtailing use during the hours of peak demand.

The city will also drill a new well as soon as plans and specifications can be drawn and presented to the city council, Coburn says.

In general, city wells are from 20 to 25 feet lower than last summer, with a drop in water level of from 12 to 14 feet recorded during the past 30 days.

As an example of trend in city wells, pumping was from the 93-foot level at the Fourth street well under the city water tower, on May 20, 1959. On June 9,

Beautiful Country, Good Fishing In Sierra

PORTERVILLE, July 28—Beautiful mountain country and good fishing is reported by a party of Porterville people who returned early this week from the Little Whitney meadow country.

In the group were: Mr. and Mrs. Don Daybell, from Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. John Keck, and Marilyn Keck, of Porterville; John Daybell, Leslie Daybell and Claudia Daybell, also of Porterville.

The party traveled in by way of Lewis camp, spent several days camping at Little Whitney meadow; fished Golden Trout creek and the Rocky Basin lakes, then rode out through Jordan Hot Springs and Kern flat.

Camped at the same time at Little Whitney meadow were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mieres, of Springville; while at Jordan Hot Springs, Gaylord Hubler, of Porterville, rode in from Painters camp, looking for stray horses.

1960, this well was producing from 112 feet, a drop of 15 feet in slightly over a year.

But by July 7, 1960, this well had dropped another 17 feet and was pumping from 129 feet.

As for total pumping capacity, all city wells were producing at a rate of 5,225 gallons per minute on June 9 of this year. Rate was 4,989 gallons on July 7 and 4-937 gallons on July 22. Trend downward is expected to continue until summer weather breaks.

One noticeable aspect of the current water situation is a drop in pressure in some homes and businesses. This is most apparent during the peak hours use from 3 p.m. until 9 p.m., and it is to help this situation that curtailment, when possible, is asked during this period.

"The problem is not so much a matter of total water available," Rambo says, "but is largely a matter of time of use. Dropping water level, along with the heavy water demand that hot summer weather brings, simply results in an extremely heavy drain on the water supply."

Concerning legal restrictions on city water use, Section 3561 of the city code of ordinances restricts use of water during fires; it prohibits the running of water off properties into streets and gutters, and it prohibits use of water in washing sidewalks or driveways to such excess that water flows into the street.

Section 8443 prohibits overflow or waste water from coolers entering the sewer system or storm drain system, making recirculation of water mandatory, except that cooler waste water can be used for irrigation.

FISHIN'

By Slim Washburn

Because of the extremely hot weather last week, fishing pressure dropped off in this area. Very few mid-week fishermen, and the weekend crowd was small. Fishing remains fair for native trout on all forks of the Tule river, and quite good for catchables in the regularly planted areas. Camp Nelson, Camp Wishon and Cedar Slope, good.

Two nice trout were taken from the Tule river last week. One 21 1/4 inch, three pound Brown was caught by Ray Pierce, of Porterville; the other, a 24 1/4 inch, four and on-half pound Brown was caught by Willie Land, also of Porterville. Both fish were caught on the Nelson fork between the Moorehouse hatchery and Camp Nelson.

Both Big Kern and Little Kern rivers, reached by pack from Quaking Aspen, are good. Some large native Rainbows taken in the Grasshopper Flats area on Big Kern. Coyote lake good.

In the high country, reached by pack from Balch park, Blossom and Evalyn lakes, very good; Maggie lake, fair. Small streams low, fishing poor.

You may have noticed we went fishing last week and while our fishing isn't too creditable we do enjoy the "back country". It's at its best now with most of the meadows still green and wild flowers blooming in the Alpine spring. Like other recent mountain travelers our heart breaks when we see the government bulldozing roads and cutting down the once sacred trees in this area. Especially as there is so little real wilderness country left.

We suppose a hundred years from now when our descendants want some peaceful meditation, and the back country is no more, they can always crawl into their bomb shelter and close the lid. The artificial flowers won't have the fragrance and the birds will be long gone but so will the aphids, so what the heck.

Meanwhile we have Pine Trees and Redwoods to sell so you can start your own "do-it-yourself" forest. This will give you something to pass on to your children as remembrance of what used to be. We also have such things as Garden Hose, Lawn Sprinklers, and Soil Soakers.

While it has been too hot to think about serious gardening we are peddling Ant Poisons, Weed Killers, Mosquito Killers, Gopher Bombs, and Vegetable Dusts. We also peddle numerous Insecticides. On "E" Street north of Olive, Porterville.

County Employees Start Move Toward Civil Service System

VISALIA, July 28 — The Employee Council of the Tulare County Employees' Association in a regular meeting, July 21, voted to continue association efforts to properly educate all members on the benefits and importance of Civil Service status for all county employees.

Further, it was stated that at such time as the council believed that the members of the association were fully aware of the need for Civil Service, immediate action would be taken to have a Civil Service ordinance on the ballot at a regular election or if circumstances so indicated to call for a special election for this purpose.

PLEA TO BE MADE IN GRENADE CASE

VISALIA, July 28 — August 20 has been set as the Superior court date when PFC Larry Tomita, 20, a Porterville man assigned to Fort Lewis, Washington, will enter a plea concerning the death, February 28, of Billy Dale Orton, 18, of Porterville, who was killed on Lewis hill when a grenade, allegedly made by Tomita, exploded. Tomita, charged with manslaughter, and other counts, is at the Atascadero State hospital.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Senator
J. Howard Williams
32nd District
California State Legislature

Living with the auto will probably always produce a multitude of problems. As the number of cars and trucks continues to mount, the financing, construction and routing the highways on which to operate them becomes increasingly complex. Other factors connected with use of roads, such as safety, special-purpose vehicles, driver licensing and the like, also complicate the situation. Consideration of such matters makes up a sizeable portion of our legislative responsibilities.

Recently, the Assembly interim committee on transportation and commerce embarked on a series of hearings in preparation for our 1961 session. Continuing on over the next several months, these meetings will serve to identify various problems, as well as to develop possible solutions for them.

A number of topics were brought up at a three day meeting of the group in San Francisco. One is the question of control of truck routes by cities. Another is the formula for allocating gas tax moneys for highway building.

The problem of truck routing is particularly acute in rapidly growing residential areas. Homeowners who have located with an idea to the safety of their children, or to the absence of traffic noise, dirt and confusion, get understandably bothered when heavy truck traffic starts invading their quiet residential streets. Complaints are made to their city councils, and soon ordinances are passed to limit the weight of truck loads permitted on certain streets.

Equally understandably, truck operators are interested in the economy made possible by use of the shortest possible routes, so they are not especially happy with laws which require them to use roundabout roads. So at the hearing, a spokesman for the operators suggested enactment of a law which would set up county commissions to determine reasonable truck routes on the basis of each county as a whole. Such a law would remove from cities the power to fix truck routes.

Opposition to this proposal was expressed by spokesmen for the cities. It was maintained that cities should have the exclusive right to establish load limits for trucks using their streets, subject, of course, to court review if an action is filed.

Proposals to change the formula for allocation of gas tax funds to the counties were also discussed at the hearing. At present, the law provides a specific percentage allocation of funds available, to each county within an overall percentage allocation to the northern and southern areas of the state. That portion of the law which sets up the allocations to counties expires in 1963 unless it is renewed. The percentage allocations to the multi-county areas continue indefinitely, however.

A representative of the University of California Institute of Transportation recommended to the committee that this county by county formula be changed to permit allocation on a regional basis, involving several adjacent counties. Such a change, it was said, would give a much more equitable result. It would enable the division of highways to proceed with large scale planning for improvement of the entire state highway system.

Another witness referred to the present formula as "horse and buggy financing." It was said that allocation on a regional basis would enable building a needed highway between any two points in a given region without regard to county lines.

If past history can be considered a precedent, we ought to have some interesting times with highway allocations in 1961.

Antihistamines a Godsend in Allergies; New Tablets Provide 12-Hour Relief

By Cynthia Carroll

Of all major medical discoveries of the past 25 years, few have been greeted with more fervent gratitude than the introduction of antihistamines just after World War II.

People who need antihistamines suffer such ills as hay fever, runny nose, skin rashes, hives, air or sea sickness, or the can't-get-a-decent-breath agony of asthma. They're seldom in danger of death, but their afflictions keep them in misery.

Small wonder that a dose of antihistamine, usually bringing prompt relief, is often followed by a fervent "Thank Heaven." It's as if the world were worth living in again.

But unfortunately, the good work done by antihistamines is accompanied by other actions. In some people they may cause drowsiness, dizziness, blurred vision, nervousness, loss of appetite, or nausea. To avoid these side effects, allergy victims may be able to take doses only once every six, eight, or 12 hours, although the benefit of a single dose invariably wears off in four.

Pharmacologists have been studying this problem ever since the drugs were discovered, hoping to eliminate the side effects while retaining the therapeutic values. It appears they've reached their goal in a new compound called Tridecamine.

Tridecamine tablets contain not one antihistamine, but three, representing three different chemical groups. The principle of sustained release, which allows the active ingredients to enter the system a little at a time, is also employed.

The theory is that very few people are sensitive to more than one of the three chemical groups, while the gradual absorption of the medication reduces the tendency to cause reaction. A single tablet, it was felt, could provide relief for 12 hours or more, the benefits would be added together while the drawbacks would not.

The theory works. Dr. Law-

rence J. Halpin of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a Fellow of the American College of Allergy, reports in the authoritative journal Annals of Allergy that he gave Tridecamine to 284 allergic patients, who took a tablet only twice each day.

"Over-all results were equal to or superior to those resulting from other antihistaminic preparations. Clinical response was immediate and the effect was prolonged over a 12-hour period," he wrote.

Dr. French K. Hansel of St. Louis had similar good results in 225 patients with allergies of the nose.

"The medication is released gradually over a period of 12 hours to produce an antihistaminic effect for 12 hours or more," Dr. Hansel reported.

Allergy victims whose physicians prescribe Tridecamine still say "Thank Heaven." But they don't have to say it as often.

CHAPEL CHIMES

Rev. N. J.

"I don't go to church, because I got enough when I was growing up to last me all the rest of my life."

This man might well be asked, "You ate a turkey dinner at Thanksgiving 30 years ago — so you haven't had to eat a bite since?"

Spiritual hunger is just as real as physical hunger. God planted this hunger in the human heart. And only He can satisfy it.

Both Old and New Testaments declare, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God." Thus, to satisfy our spiritual hunger, we must indeed feast on the Word of God, the Bible. We need to wait on God, in prayer, meditation, and worship, to build our spiritual muscles. "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength..."

Judge Julius Miner of Chicago says, "Criminals are victims of spiritual starvation, reared in an era that has discarded morality. They are fugitives from God." Judge Miner, an authority on divorce and crime problems, says a spiritual resurgence is needed to draw the people to God.

When you go to church you have a right to expect to find God there. Of course He is everywhere. But His presence is specially real to believers who assemble to worship Him in His sanctuary. We must tune our ears to His voice. We must open our hearts to Him through prayer. We must behold Him with the eye of faith. He promises, "Ye shall seek Me and find Me, when ye shall search for Me with all your heart."

America, confronted with Modernism, Materialism, and Communism, needs the blessed influence of the church. Especially the 50 million citizens who never go to church.

Let's go to church!

Southern Sierra

During its seven years of weather control work in this area, the non-profit farmer group claims to have increased rainfall by some 17 percent above that which would have occurred naturally. Oddly enough, or perhaps coincidentally, the two years in which no seeding was done are also the years of lowest rainfall.

The organization came into being in the year 1950, shortly after Dr. Vincent Schaeffer of the General Electric Laboratories discovered that under certain conditions, clouds could be induced to precipitate their moisture prematurely when stimulated by the chemical, silver iodide. It is still the most successful method and the one used by the state last winter to increase the snow pack at Squaw Valley for the Winter Olympics.

At the height of the local program, nearly one and one-half million acres were under seeding operations. Basically, these were range and grain lands whose only means for moisture is that which falls as rain. However, many irrigation districts, whose watersheds lay within the area under precipitation control participated also. Contributions were solicited on a voluntary per acre basis.

Mainly, it was a lack of funds, rather than a lack of confidence in artificial rainmaking that caused directors to suspend operations during the 1958 winter season. It is their hope that with the diminishing underground supplies and need for recreational waters, a renewed public interest in weather modification will be shown. At any rate, they're standing by.

DAN C. TURRENTINE has been named manager of the California Wine Advisory board to direct sales promotions, public relations, advertising, research and other activities associated with the state's $600 million wine industry.
